THE NEWS.

THE ELECTION TO-MORROW.

The election throughout this State will be held to-morrow, when the qualified voters are to choose various State, judicial and local officers and members of both houses of the Legislature.

The officers to be voted for on the State ticket are Secretary of State, Comptroller, Attorney General, Canal Commissioner, State Treasurer, State Engineer, Inspector of State Prisons, two Judges of the Court of Appeals and a Clerk of the same court.

Besides all the officers to be chosen, the electors are to decide by their ballots whether the State loan of thirty millions of dollars contracted to pay bounties to volunteer soldiers shall be made a debt payable in twelve years, with interest, or whether, by the levying of a special tax, the whole of it shall be discharged next year.

Every man entitled to a vote, and who wishes to exercise his right to-morrow at the polls, should not fail to-day to visit the place in his district where the board of registry meets, if he has not done so already, to be sure that his name is on the poll list. The various registry places throughout the Metropolitan Police District will be open again to-day, and this is the last chance for all voters, as by the law of the last Legislature the old system of availing in votes on election day is abolished.

At the closing of the registry places on Saturday eighty-four thousand nine hundred and seventy-four names had been put on the lists in the entire city during the four days that they had been open, and no doubt this will be a very busy day with them, as the number still lacks over twenty-five thousand of reaching the vote polled by this city at the Presidential election in 1864, which was one hundred and ten thousand three hundred and ninety-five.

On the second, third and eighth pages of to-day's Herald will be found a complete list of the registry and polling places, besides a large collection of other information of importance to voters, in both the forms of news and advertisements.

two years of the rebellion, as it was stated that he was without a dollar in the world.

In the Georgia Convention on the 24th inst. resolutions were adopted declaring it the duty of the Legislature to provide for the widows and orphans of Georgia soldiers who served in the rebel army, and requesting Provisional Governor Johnson to order the organization of a State militia. A resolution asking the President to pardon the rebel Commander Tamm and restore to him his property was unanimously adopted.

The government of the city of Savannah, Ga., has been given up by the Mayor and Council by the national military authorities.

The substance of a recent very interesting conversation on the present condition of the Southern country, and who has traveled extensively since the suppression of the rebellion in nearly all the States lately in revolt, is given by one of our correspondents in Columbia, South Carolina. The general condition is that of poverty and destitution, a general decay of crops of every sort, and a widespread prostration of agricultural operations, producing great destitution among the white inhabitants. On many of the plantations the improvements, as well as the dwellings as the sugar houses, gin houses and costly machinery were destroyed, and the stock, tools and materials necessary for working carried off, during the progress of the war, and the planters, besides finding themselves straggled by this state of affairs, meet with infinite trouble in the new system of labor inaugurated by the emancipation of the negroes, to which it seems they are not yet able to adapt themselves.

An exhibit made up at the Post Office Department shows that the whole number of post routes so far restored in the Southern States is two hundred and forty-one, embracing eighteen thousand five hundred and sixty-three miles of service, at a cost to the government of $805,798 less than by the contract in existence at the outbreak of the rebellion for the same amount of service.

Important news regarding the war between Paraguay and the allies was brought by the bark Katharine Mowde, which arrived at Boston yesterday. The town of Uruguayana, with its garrison of five hundred Paraguayans, had been captured by the allies after a stubbornly maintained siege of six weeks. The prisoners were immediately taken into the army of the allies, according to the plan adopted by the allies on board the steamship Atlanta, at the Lower Quarantine, as reported by the physician in charge; but the disease is still confined to the steamer, none of the cabin passengers having yet been attacked. There is, however, no cause for alarm, as there has not yet been the slightest sign of cholera in the city; but the Health Commissioners, as also many private individuals, are taking necessary precautionary measures. It would be well if these matters were more generally attended to by the people, and thereby put in such a condition of cleanliness as might completely avert the future visitation of the scourge.

The Government of New Jersey has issued a proclamation calling on the municipalities and individuals to look after their sanitary condition.

Further details of the terrible ravages committed among the shipping on the Florida coast by the recent severe gale are given in our Key West dispatch. The steamship Newbern, which arrived at Key West on the 25th ult., picked up at sea on the 20th four men found floating on a raft, who proved to be the only survivors of thirteen belonging to the ship Mersey, of Liverpool, laden with mahogany, which foundered at sea. These men were in a miserable condition, having been for four days exposed to the winds and waves, without any food. The Prussian bark Menger, from New Orleans for Liverpool, was fallen in with on the 27th ult., in a completely disabled condition, by the Newbern, and towed to Key West. The Newbern also saw ashore on the Florida coast the bark Johna, which was wrecked, and J. M. Howard, besides numerous evidences of additional wrecks. The steamship heretofore reported ashore 90 miles south of Caryfort Reef, Fla., is supposed to have been the Catharine Whiting, from this port for Galveston. It is thought that the passengers and crew were saved. The ship Caroline, of Newbern, went ashore about four miles west of Key West had a valuable cargo of cotton. It is thought that the persons on board of her were rescued. The bark Waltham, from New Orleans for Boston, was also among the vessels wrecked on the Florida coast. Other craft will be found noticed in another column as among the sufferers.

The officers of the steamship Weybosset, from this port for Savannah, when off Cape Hatteras, on the 27th ult., saw a vessel on fire, on board of which, soon after she was destroyed by an explosion, by which she was blown up and completely destroyed. It was thought that she was a small river steamer, and that those on board of her were lost on off by a vessel which was seen lying alongside previous to the explosion.

The November term of the Court of General Sessions commences this morning. Judge Russell will preside, and Assistant District Attorney Bedford will conduct the prosecution. The calendar is very heavy, and several homicide cases will be disposed of, with the most important of which are the indictments against Wm. O'Keefe and James J. Oram. It is probable that the trial of Jenkins, the alleged Wall Street dealer, will take place toward the close of the term.

There was a mysterious explosion yesterday in front of the Wyoming Hotel, No. 35 Greenwich street, by which twenty-two persons were injured and several of the surrounding buildings seriously damaged. The affair is still a matter of mystery, and is to undergo a thorough investigation.

The Rev. William B. Stoddard, the proprietor of the hotel, is the best known person connected with the case. It was a bomb, the contents of which were unknown, placed in a room on the second floor, and exploded, blowing up the hotel, and killing several persons. The bomb was discovered on the 27th ult. and was removed to the sidewalk, when it exploded, doing damage fully described in another portion of our paper.

Additional particulars of the effects of the severe earthquake shocks experienced in San Francisco on the 8th and 9th of last month, and hereafter at different times, noticed in our columns, are furnished by one of our correspondents in that city. There were six distinct disturbances of the earth, the first five occurring during the afternoon and night of the 8th, at a little before one, and at four, seven and ten o'clock, and the sixth at half past ten in the forenoon of the 9th. The water front of the city, comprising the main business streets, which are to a considerable extent located on made ground, suffered the most, nearly all the buildings here being to some extent shattered, and some of them thrown down and completely ruined. The back and higher part of the town, where all the best private residences are situated, suffered only in the cracking of plastering and walls, breaking of glass, &amp;c. In the southwestern part of the city the oscillations were so great that extensive fissures were made in the earth. The same earthquake was felt with more or less severity at various places throughout the State of California.

The Rev. Morgan L. Dix preached a sermon on yesterday, in Trinity Chapel, in which he stated that there was a perfect unity between the Southern and Northern branches of the Episcopal Church at the recent convention in Philadelphia. He also furnished some interesting facts in regard to the work of the convention.

The corner stone of a Roman Catholic orphan asylum to be erected in Brooklyn was laid yesterday with imposing ceremony, Bishop Loughlin, of that city, presiding. The Irish benevolent and charitable societies turned out in great force on the occasion, and it was computed that between thirty thousand and forty thousand people were present. The site is on the corner of Wyckoff street and Albany avenue, in the Eastern District.

The festival of St. Charles Borromeo was celebrated at the Sydney place Roman Catholic church, Brooklyn, last evening, by a grand musical performance, subsequent to which Archbishop McCloskey delivered a most interesting and eloquent address, embracing a sketch of the noble character of the saint in whose honor the ceremonies were performed. A vast throng was assembled on the occasion.

It was supposed that the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who early in the week had a lengthy conversation with President Johnson, would make his appearance at the topic of discourse last evening, in Plymouth church, Brooklyn. A large concourse was therefore assembled; but he was doomed to disappointment in this respect. He theme was the power of invisible and divine truths.

The funeral of Lieutenant Colonel John G. Reynolds, of the Marine corps, took place yesterday afternoon, from his late residence in Flushing avenue, Brooklyn, and was attended with the solemn ceremonies befitting the rank of the deceased and the estimation in which he was held by those with whom he was associated. A number of naval officers and others of distinction were in the procession, and the hearse was escorted by a band of music, a drum corps and eight platoons of marines. The remains were interred in Greenwood Cemetery.

A man named John H. March, who was recently arrested in this city on the charge of attempting to pass a counterfeit ten dollar Treasury note, was recognized as an alleged deserter from the State Prison at Trenton, New Jersey, where he was under a five years sentence, also for passing counterfeit money, and was sent back to this place on Saturday last.

The Clipper cotton factory, at Woodbury, three miles from Baltimore, was totally destroyed by an incendiary fire yesterday morning. The loss is estimated at nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, on which the insurance is between fifty and sixty thousand dollars.

Congress and the Southern Representatives.

The determination of the radicals to prevent the admission of the representatives from the States recently in rebellion into Congress is daily becoming more and more apparent. They are showing their teeth whenever and wherever they dare face public opinion, and are dodging around in search of plausible reasons to justify them in adopting such a revolutionary course. Appeals for humanity, future party success, and various other schemes are resorted to as a cover to, or justification of, their intention to override the constitution. One of their last dodges is the manipulation of the Clerk of the last House of Representatives. The radicals, it is asserted, have captured him by making him their candidate for Clerk of the next House. He has no doubt been shown that he cannot be elected if the Southern representatives are permitted to vote during the organization of the House, and therefore sets himself up as judge and jury to decide who shall and who shall not be admitted into Congress. We shall soon see how much truth there is in these statements and know where he belongs. If the reports be correct, he has gone over to the revolutionary Jacobin faction, and is now with the law to secure admission. The position which Mr. Johnson has taken, like all the opposition of the radical faction to the President's restoration policy, is totally untenable. The mildest term that can be used in reference to these schemes is, that they are revolutionary.
